Victim 1

NR: 0203487

Date: 12/02/2020

The victim was found in the early morning (07:15) by a jogger on Sunday 12 February 2020. The victim was already dead when the police came to the scene. Alcohol was found in the victim's blood. The coroner found several stab wounds in the torso of the victim, inflicted by a long, pointed object, presumably a screwdriver. The victim probably bled to death. Furthermore, no signs of violence were found, which suggests that the victim did not see the attack coming. This suggests that the victim either knew the perpetrator or couldn't see him/her. During the autopsy, only partially digested plant remains were found in his stomach. When police asked around the neighborhood, no one appeared to have seen the perpetrator. No useful camera footage was found either.

The victim was found dead in her apartment on Thursday the 19th of February by a concerned neighbor. The victim had been dead for at least 48 hours. Bruises were found on her neck. The doctor concluded that the victim died of asphyxia by strangulation, presumably by the hands of the killer. The size of the bruises suggests that the killer is a man with large hands. In the victim's mouth, a flower was found that had wilted in the meantime. In the apartment, a yellowish backpack was found containing a laptop, presumably belonging to the killer. So far, the laptop did not provide any useful material. A neighbour saw a large person, presumably a man, leave the building around 08:00 on the day of her death. The person was wearing long trousers, dark sweater, yellow Lakers cap and brightly coloured basketball shoes. The man was slightly limping on his right leg.

The victim was found in his car in the parking lot of Cairo Festival City. The man's skull was smashed in with a hard, heavy object, presumably a hammer. The victim was only found the next morning by an unsuspecting shopper. It is suspected that the perpetrator was hiding in the back seat of the car, waiting to strike the victim. Groceries, the victim's cell phone and a single poppy were found in the car. While reviewing the shop's camera footage, a suspected offender was identified. The face of the perpetrator was not visible. The suspect was wearing yellow sneakers, presumably basketball shoes, blue shorts and a dark t-shirt. His face was covered by a cap.

On the 16th of March 2020, only the right hand of the victim was found in a mailbox in Maadi. The victim's head was found 100 metres farther away, with a poppy in his mouth. Neighbours who saw everything, described the perpetrator as a big person with colourful clothes.
